Four Way Stop Light

NEW HYDE PARK, N.Y. — The traffic light at an intersection in this Long Island community locked in a set position Thursday, showing red on all four sides.

Motorists halted. Horns

honked. Traffic backed up in each direction. After several minutes, a police patrol car sped up. An officer jumped out, walked up to a control box and gave it a good, hard pounding with the side of his fist. The light changed, and traffic moved again.

Has Our Country Served Its Purpose?

ARE we ready to put an end to the independent existence of the United States of America?

Has our country served its purpose? Influential voices high in our government seem to be ready for that significant change. On page 549 of "The United States in the World Arena" by Walter W. Rostow, we find these words:

"Put another way, it is a legitimate American national objective to see removed from all nations—including the United States—the right to use substantial military force to pursue their own interests. Since this residual right is the root of national sovereignty and the basis for the existence of an international arena of power, it is, therefore, an American interest to see an end to nationhood as it has been historically defined." Coming from the chief policy advisor to the Executive Department of our government, this statement is of great significance.

If the majority of the nations of the world believed in free government and free enterprise, and if they accepted the moral law of God as set forth in the Judeo-Christian religion, it might be possible to look forward with equanimity to some sort of world-wide authority. However, we live in a world in which an increasing number of nations deny the existence of God. Therefore they also deny the very concept of His moral law. They proclaim atheism, deny the desirability of freedom and free government, and continue in season and out and by fair means and foul to push for the concept of the totalitarian state. World government under present conditions would reduce the United States to the status of a province in a socialist, atheist world. Not many Americans want that. Yet powerful voices in high places are urging an end to our national existence and our acceptance of a world-wide, collectivist society. If that should happen, we may be sure that we will be taxed down to the levels existing in South America, Asia and Africa.

Fulton Woman Is Tri-State Winner

WINNER—Betty Vowell, Fulton, shot an 85 to win in the championship flight of the Tri-State Women's Golf Tournament Wednesday. She is shown on right being congratulated by Mrs. Dutch Bryant following her victory.

By JERRY ATKINS

Sun-Democrat Sports Editor

Betty Vowell of Fulton, Ky. fired an 85 Wednesday to capture the championship flight in the annual Tri-State Ladies' Golf Tournament, held this year at Paducah's Paxton Park.

Delayed by rain twice, a field of 120 ladies from the three-state area — Kentucky, Illinois and Missouri — competed for silver pieces and other prizes. The top three golfers in five flights received silver while ladies with the most fives and fewest putts received golfing equipment prizes.

Action began at 9 a.m. at Paxton and continued most of the day, because of the rain delays. Mrs. Dutch Bryant of Paducah served as tournament director.

Mrs. Vowell's 85 was one stroke better than Juanita Preston's 86 and two better than Mary Jane Harris' 87. Mrs. Preston plays out of Carl Girardeau, Mo. and Mrs. Harris from the Paducah Country Club.

Peggy Wynn of Paducah's Paxton Park won the prize for most fives in the championship flight, winning by a draw over Eleanor Griffin of Paxton Park. Virgie Wilson of Paducah Country Club had low putts, winning by a draw over Nell Newton of Fulton.

Paxton Park's Dot Simmons rounded the 18-hole course in 87 strokes to easily win the top spot in the first flight, four strokes better than Fulton's Virginia Rogers. Cathryn Brooks of Village Greens Golf Course placed third in the first flight with a 95.

Mayfield's Ila Wylie won by a draw over Fulton's Zane Taylor for the first flight prize for most fives. Elizabeth Gowler of Paxton Park had low putts in the division.

Sue Morris of Murray Oaks Course and Mary Bain of Sikeson, Mo. tied for the top spot in the second flight with 96s. Sue Morris won the flight in a play-off and Laura Parker of Murray Oaks placed third with a 97.

Third Flight winner was Murrell Walker of Murray Oaks with a 100, followed by Mable Rogers of Murray Oaks at 104 and Millie Brown of Paducah Rolling Hills at 105. Dot Jones of Rolling Hills had the most fives in the flight and Nancy Fandrich of Murray Country Club won over Dot Arnold of Rolling Hills in a draw for prize in low putts.

Pat McFarland of Rolling Hills captured the fourth flight title with a 103. Toopie Thomas of Murray Oaks placed second at 107 and Dot Reeves of Rolling Hills was third with a 110. Patti Turok of Paxton had the most fives in the flight and Marguerite Douglas of Rolling Hills had low putts.

The one-day tournament took the place of the regular ladies' day golf at the Paxton course. Paxton players will not have a line-up for pairings next week, but will make their own at the course.

Ellington Drops His Role

MEMPHIS (AP) — Gov. Buford Ellington said Tuesday he is dropping his favorite-son role but gave no indication how Tennessee delegates to the Democratic National Convention will vote.

However, political observers speculate Ellington's vote will go to Vice President Hubert Humphrey.

Ellington told a reception here Tuesday that he will poll delegates before the convention. "I will see who they want and that's the way we will go to the national convention in Chicago," he stated.

The governor has been endorsed by 80 per cent of the 95 county delegates to the Tennessee Democratic Convention.

Tennessee was considered securely in President Johnson's column until the President announced he would not seek re-election. Since that time, however, there has been little visible support in Tennessee for either of Humphrey's opponents, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn.

Ellington has taken no public stand on either candidate, but he said Humphrey and McCarthy have contacted him.

Ellington was the honoree at a reception sponsored by the Shelby County Democratic Executive Committee. Party officials said more than 1,500 persons turned out to greet the governor, who was presented a color television set.

Cook Says Demos Must Run On National Record

The Democratic nominee for the U.S. Senate, no matter who he or she is, will have to campaign on the record of the national Democratic administration, Marlow Cook has said while campaigning for the Republican Senate nomination.

Cook said Saturday in Louisville that only a Republican Congress and president can solve the problems which have developed during the current national administration.

Cook said those problems included rising costs and an unbalanced budget, the war in Vietnam, and crime and civil disorders.

Cook claimed that the problems are so great that the President decided not to run again.

Nation Boasts Vast Variety Of Recreational Facilities

It may surprise you to know that you could cross the entire country and camp each night in a different National Forest. This fact illuminates the spread of facilities awaiting those who seek outdoor recreation.

But it's not the complete story. Every state in the nation has park systems offering camping sites to families of five for about $2 a day or less.

There is a lot more to the outdoors than just camping, but camping does, generally speaking, imply all the rest — fishing, boating, hunting, hiking and the sheer joy of traveling to the chosen area for a vacation.

Planning for any vacation should start with a definite objective in mind. What will you do when you get there; what do you want to see on the way?

Contacting Tourist, Fishing and Game divisions of the various states, or the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation of the Department of the Interior, Washington, D.C., will get you a wealth of stimulating information.

Places to Write For those specifically interested in boating and water sports, write the Outdoor Boating Club of America, Chicago.

Your happy hunting grounds — for game or any other outdoor recreation — range from the rock-bound coast of Maine to semi-tropical southern California, from the high mountains of the Northwest to the Everglades in Florida.

The huge X thus formed across the map of the country marks America — despite the vast explosion of our metropolitan areas — as a nation with almost unlimited opportunities for outdoor recreation. Coursing in every direction from anywhere along the X, are facilities close enough for a weekend or a day's outing, for that matter.

Consider, as suggestions for places to go, the lakes of Wisconsin and Minnesota in the upper midwest; the TVA lakes of Kentucky, Tennessee and Alabama; or Lake Texoma in Oklahoma for fishing and water sports.

And History, Too

There is the outdoors vacation wonderland of New England, with a lot of history along the way.

Think of exploring the American deserts in Nevada or Utah; the forests of Washington and Oregon; the rugged mountains of Colorado.

The shores of the Gulf of Mexico, the Atlantic or Pacific coastlines where you'll find everything from "roughing it" to luxury resorts, include opportunities for deep sea and surf fishing.

As someone observed recently: This is your country — See for yourself how full it is of opportunities for adventure, pleasure, and for you to enjoy its Great Outdoors.

Future Mailmen

One-day mail service to any place in the world could well become commonplace and inexpensive in the future. Messages would be relayed from local "post offices" to the nearest satellite. The satellites (powered by nickel-cadmium batteries constantly under charge from solar cells) would then redirect the message to earth.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Punishing the Past

Suppose you discover that, in your community, there is no law against smashing street lights. And suppose you go out and smash a dozen or two. And suppose that the city fathers, in sudden alarm, pass a law forbidding such behavior.

Could you then be punished, under the new law, for the lights you have already smashed?

No—not even if you knew all along that you were doing something wrong. Punishment-by-hindsight is forbidden in Article One of the Constitution, which says that "no ex post facto law shall be passed." No act, legal when committed, may be made punishable afterward by pinning a criminal label on it.

This applies not only to creating new crimes but also to increasing the penalty on existing crimes. For example:

A state legislature decreed that convicted murderers, while awaiting execution, should be kept in solitary confinement. But a court ruled that the extra penalty, the solitary confinement, could not be imposed upon any murderer whose crime had already been committed. On the other hand, a law easing the punishment may constitutionally apply to the past. Thus, lawmakers could reduce the death penalty to life imprisonment, and apply the change to murders committed while the death penalty was still on the books.

Moreover, the ex post facto rule applies to criminal penalties only. It does not protect you from assorted unpleasant consequences, other than criminal penalties, that may be based on your past misconduct.

In one case, an ex-convict who had served 10 years in jail wanted to practice medicine. But, according to a state law, no one who had been convicted of a felony could do so.

"This law is unconstitutional," the man charged in a court test. "True, I committed a felony. But I have already served my sentence for that. To prevent me now from practicing medicine would be to add an extra punishment, and that is ex post facto."

However, the court upheld the law, saying the legislature was not imposing a punishment but merely setting standards for the practice of medicine. The judge said:

"The physician is one whose relations to life and health are most intimate. Character is as important a qualification as knowledge. If a state may require good character as a condition of the practice of medicine, it may rightfully determine what shall be the evidences of that character."

Steer Eats Proof Of Winning Prize

AUBURN, Wash. John Eby, manager of the Northwest Junior Livestock Show, was somewhat baffled when 12-year-old Betty Wagner asked him for a purple ribbon to prove that her Hereford had won first place in the fitting and showing competition.

After all, he pointed out, he'd hung a ribbon on the animal's rail. Betty agreed, but said the steer had eaten that one.

Graduation Present

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. The latest class of officers from the Scottsdale Police Academy was delayed on its way to graduation. The rookies took time out to capture a fleeing youth who had just disarmed a sheriff's officer and threatened to kill him.

Maricopa County Sheriff's Sgt. Tom Bartlett said he was questioning a youth in the back seat of his patrol car, when the boy pulled a gun from under a folded coat on his lap, disarmed him and fled on foot.

As the youth ran past the bus carrying the cadet graduating class, the officers-to-be clambered out and surrounded him.

Insurance Firm Isn't Covered

LONDON — After her London apartment was robbed, 21-year-old Rebecca Bowring checked her insurance policy but found she wasn't fully covered. Her father is an underwriter with Lloyds of London and three of her uncles are directors of Bowring's Ltd., one of Britain's bigger insurance companies.

Miss Morris, Mr. Gill To Marry In Lovely Mid-June Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dock Morris announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter Joyce Ann to Mr. Leroy Gill of St. Louis, Missouri.

Miss Morris was a 1968 graduate of South Fulton High School.

Mr. Gill is the son of Mrs. Oria Lee Johnson and Mr. Marshall Gill, both of St. Louis.

The groom is employed by General Motors in St. Louis.

A mid-June wedding is planned.

Ask Dr. QUIZMEE

Dr. Quizmee, our information specialist, is happy to answer his readers' questions in his weekly column. All responses are verified by Funk & Wagnalls Standard Reference Encyclopedia.

The 25-volume set of Funk & Wagnalls Standard Encyclopedia were won this week by Jay Jackson for asking this question: "When was the draft first used in the United States?"

Compulsory conscription, or the draft, was first used in 1777 in Virginia and Massachusetts. George Washington commended the plan to the Continental Congress which one year later urged the other colonies to use the draft.

Theo. Waters, who wants to know: "What is the derivation of the word 'boss'?"

The word comes from the Dutch word baas, meaning master or head of a household. Originally, the word was used in the United States to describe a political leader or a financial magnate.

Eleanor Frazier whose question is: "I've heard that the smallest church in the world is in Iowa — could you please tell me where it is?"

Actually, the world's smallest church is the Union Church in Wisconsin, Maine. Its floor area measures 31½ square feet and its dimensions are seven feet by 4½ feet, hardly enough room for one clergyman, one worshipper and one churchmouse!

If you are the first to submit a question which appears in this column, you will receive, free, the full 25-volume set of Funk & Wagnalls Standard Reference Encyclopedia. The writer of this column is the sole judge as to who is first. Mail your question to Dr. Quizmee in care of this newspaper.

PACKING—Mrs. Mathias, the other half of the Mathias gardening combination, works in the strawberry shed near their patch on the Fulton highway. Strawberry growers have seen their crop damaged this year by frequent rains which have caused the berries to become water logged.

PONDER THIS!

The famed—but fictional—"Ponderosa" TV series is perhaps one of the most photographed (and photographed) ranches in the West.

The Ponderosa has now become a reality on the North Shore at Lake Tahoe, Nevada, in the same location bounded by the ranch map on the TV show. And it is open to the public.

The Ponderosa at Incline Village expects more than 300,000 visitors this summer.

Cotton takes a more permanent dye finish than any other fiber.

"Blind Leads Blind" At Dixon, Ill. School

body could dispute that Thomas L. Danler is the perfect choice of a person to help visually handicapped students this summer at a state home for the mentally retarded in Dixon, Ill.

Danler, a junior majoring in English here at St. Benedict's College, is blind.

The student, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Danler of Kingman, Kan., keeps up a full schedule of extracurricular activities in addition to maintaining a 2.89 grade average on a 4.0 scale.
